Do you have experience working with gifted individuals? Do you typically work with children, teens, adults, and/or families?

I have experience working with gifted school-age children and young adolescents. I typically see children and young adolescents individually, but parents are always included in the treatment process, to varying degrees.

Do you have a specialty or preferred area of expertise? Do you have additional certifications or training that may be of interest to families with gifted children?

I am a cognitive-behavioral therapist and my preferred area of expertise is anxiety in children and young adolescents. I do work with a variety of other presenting concerns, however.

Have you worked with twice-exceptional children/teens and their families?

Yes, I frequently working with twice-exceptional children/teens.

Briefly state how your understanding of the needs of gifted/2e individuals and families inform your approach?

I utilize a cognitive-behavioral approach which is fairly consistent. However, therapy is tailored to each individual/family. There are a number of struggles that I've seen to be more common among gifted individuals and I assess for these when working with such individuals.

About NWGCA

The Northwest Gifted Child Association (NWGCA) is a support and advocacy organization for parents of gifted children. Organized in 1963, NWGCA provides support and information to parents of gifted children. It continues to help parents enhance and hone their parenting skills and gives them tools to speak out for an appropriate gifted education and deal with this learning difference we call giftedness. NWGCA works with individual families, talking with them by phone and through emails, providing appropriate referrals and resources through our website. Thank you for completing this application form and for supporting the gifted and talented families of Washington State. Please email completed form to providers@nwgca.org.
